HIGHLIGHTS

Indus Tech Industrial Tools And Automation Expo 2023

It was being organized by Dronacharya events and was inaugurated by Minister of Transport Shri Moolchand Sharma and BJP MLA Shri Rajesh Nagar. It was the 23rd edition of the INDUS Tech Expo. The main motive of this Expo was to promote and display the latest technologies, machines and services for cost-effective and technology-driven manufacturing. Most of the top-notch industries and offices participated in the exhibition. This EXPO was a perfect podium for the SMEs to showcase their products and services.

INDUS Tech Expo 2023 Machine tools and Automation Expo which was held from 6 to 8 Jan 2023 at Sector 12 Ground, Near Town Park, Faridabad

Sponsored partners of the Indus Tech expo are Yash Blowers Pvt. Ltd and Gear Up Electric Pvt. Ltd. Yash blowers started by Alok Saini in 1998, based at Faridabad. It brings a range of pumps and blowers for industrial applications and has a monthly capacity of 90 units. Gear Up Electric Pvt. Ltd is a manufacturing firm based in Faridabad of electrical wiring accessories specializing in LED lighting products. Other sponsors are Rapo coil, SAI Rubber Engg. Pvt. Ltd, Unique controls, Deep Automation and Allied engineering.

The Expo helped exhibitors and visitors to discover new markets, services and sellers. There were around 4500 visitors and 450 exhibitors, which proved out as the cherry on the cake. It was an open commercial centre spreading over 1,65,000 sq. ft. an ideal space for thousands of people. It had 500+ Stalls and over 12000 products. 66% of trade visitors were from Delhi NCR. 23% of visitors were from remaining parts of the country like Punjab, UP, Rajasthan etc. Around 11% of visitors, were interested in dealership and distribution. There were many service providers of Banking services, consulting services, industrial maintenance, information technology, transport logistics, and warehousing. With previous editions of exhibitions, INDUS Tech enjoys a reputation as a comprehensive platform for the automation industries.

The benefits of attending the INDUS Tech Expo are as providing an opportunity to analyse the competition closely and get to know the strategy of the opposition in the market. It gave a chance to have face-to-face interaction with the clients. LIVE demos were demonstrated. It helped in brand building and brand awareness among the visitors.

Exhibitors got exclusive sponsorship opportunities to open up market exposure during the EXPO. Many industries identified new opportunities in this Expo.

It was really an eye-opening experience at the INDUS tech expo 2023. Different industries and manufacturers came up with different innovations.

Sharing a little heartfelt appreciation with exhibitors

Many companies don't consider their business continuity plans to be an essential component of how they run their daily operations, but rather merely a series of checklists and processes to follow in an emergency. Businesses that obstinately hold on to these beliefs are never able to fully realize the benefits of their BCMS (Business Continuity Management Systems) in terms of increased operational and financial performance or improved brand reputation. To assist firms in overcoming this obstacle, a number of frameworks are available, including ISO 22301:2019. The implementation of ISO 22301:2019, a standard for managing, mitigating, and recovering from disruptive incidents, either alone or in conjunction with other management systems like ISO 9001 (Quality), ISO 27001 (Information Security), ISO 14001 (Environment), or ISO 45001 (Occupational Health & Safety), can have a number of beneficial effects for organizations of all sizes and across all sectors.

A variety of factors, such as roles, duties, and authority, should be addressed in the business continuity plan. Work like this must be done both during and after a traumatic event; simply surviving is not enough. The procedures for restarting and resuming operations after an interruption caused by an incident must be documented in a BCMS in accordance with ISO 22301. It means meeting or exceeding the predetermined benchmarks for performance in a "business as usual," or baseline, scenario. With the purpose of ensuring the continued viability of the business, ISO 22301 offers advice on how to handle, lessen, and recover from disruptive situations. Accreditation and compliance are advantageous to an organisation in many ways, including in terms of reputation, employee morale, and bottom-line profits, so it makes sense that a thorough understanding of these standards would be advantageous. With the supply chain strengthened, the company can better assure its clientele that it will meet or exceed its performance expectations for the supplied goods and services. A company's long-term viability depends on its ability to provide excellent customer service, meet the needs of its internal and external stakeholders, and prevent any threats to its ability to do business.

CMMI, or the Capability Maturity Model Integration, is a model that organizations can use to improve their software development processes. The CMMI model was created in 1989 by the Software Engineering Institute (SEI), a branch of Carnegie Mellon University.

Achieving a CMMI certification is a highly rewarding experience, and following these tips can help you get there. First of all, make sure to read up on the latest version of the CMMI model and thoroughly understand each practice. This will not only make you more efficient in preparing for certification examinations, but it will also give you the foundational knowledge needed for successfully implementing CMMI models. Next, create an action plan to guide your organization's progress toward earning the certification. This plan should include specifics such as deadlines, assigned tasks and responsibilities, measurable objectives and expected outcomes.
